As You Sleep

Using the latest technology and finest ingredients, La Prairie's Cellular Radiance Night Cream is a definite must have in your beauty arsenal

IT'S NO SECRET. While sleep allows our mind and body to rest, it is also the time when our body quietly undergoes natural repair and rejuvenation. This is also true for our skin, which makes it the ideal time for a skincare product such as La Prairie's Cellular Radiance Night Cream to work its magic.

As our skin matures, we cannot help but notice the appearance of lines and wrinkles. The skin tone and smoothness is gone. This is due to the skin's loss of moisture and elasticity, which naturally comes with age. The skin looks dull, which sadly makes us look old. How we wish there's a product that can renew our radiant skin and restore our youthful glow.

Cellular Radiance Night Cream is an advanced de-ageing cream that brings light to the skin and restores its natural glow. With its intensive formula, it renews and regenerates natural skin functions. It helps rebuild your skin's firmness and elasticity even while you sleep. With natural papaya extract it gently exfoliates, improving its texture and promoting clear skin. With its moisture-binding formula, it replenishes skin moisture lost throughout the day, soothing and nourishing the skin while providing anti-oxidant protection. The luxurious night cream treatment, with mica and liquid crystals, illuminates and brightens the skin. Its radiance complex formula restores its lustrous texture and tone.

La Prairie's exclusive patented cellular complex, which is produced completely from biotechnological sources, is an integral component in all of La Prairie's wide range of skin treatment products, including the Cellular Radiance Night Cream. Considered its secret weapon against ageing, La Prairie's Radiance products contain quartz liquid crystals and reflective pigments that enhance the natural reflective properties of the skin, restoring its glow and luminosity.

Apply nightly to face and neck after cleansing and toning. Get a good night's sleep, knowing that when you awaken, you will be facing a brand new day with youthful glowing skin you deserve. ●
